America's Healthiest Hometown

Our community medical partners are committed to making The Villages a preeminent home to quality health care, longevity and enhanced quality of life for seniors. It's a mission crafted through innovative primary care practices, cutting edge technology, a nationally renowned hospital system and research university.

From UF Health Doctors

Dr. Jana Unislawski of UF Memory Disorder Clinic is facilitator for an Alzheimer's Association support group via Zoom on the second Friday of each month, starting at noon. To register and for more information, please call 800-272-3900. The sessions are free. They're designed to help build a support system, exchange practical information on challenges and possible solutions, talk through issues and ways to cope, share feelings, needs and concerns, and learn about available community resources. The next session is May 13.

From UF Health Researchers

Scripps Florida, globally known for biomedical research, and UF Health, with clinical and biomedical research expertise, are joining together to form UF Scripps Biomedical Research. "Scripps Florida scientists have impeccable reputations in their fields. Bringing them into UF's research and educational enterprise will nurture many scientific and clinical breakthroughs," said Dr. David Nelson, senior vice president for health affairs at UF and president of UF Health. Scripps Florida, located in Jupiter, is responsible for hundreds of patents and spinoff companies.

At UF Health Hospitals

Prescribing to "It Takes a Village" thinking, the hospitals are asking residents to share the news of the many job opportunities and are offering a referral bonus gift following a hire. UF Health invites the public to connect extended family members, friends or former colleagues seeking medical careers. To learn more or to view open positions, visit <https://jobs.centralfloridahealth.org/> today.
